

A Commitment to Green Construction

Ciel Power LLC is committed to utilizing proven green building techniques. Our Building Performance Institute (BPI) Gold Star Contractor designation, is North America's premier certification of technical standards and professional credentialing for residential energy efficiency upgrade work. BPI develops standards using an open, transparent, consensus-based process built on sound building science.

As an independent, not-for-profit organization, BPI helps to improve the comfort, health, safety, durability and energy efficiency of America's existing houses. BPI develops, maintains and provides oversight of building performance certification for companies and individuals, and administers certification scheme committees to develop the schemes.

Ciel Power LLC complies with the building practices and Code of Ethics set forth by the Building Performance Institute.
